

To Whom it May Concern:

I have known Dr. Taha as a radiology colleague after joining the university as associate professor in neuroradiology and general radiology.

I have worked with Dr. Taha on quite a few times and have come to respect him for his readings and opinions. We often discuss some common cases and in all our discussions, he has always impressed me with his clinical and academic excellence. I have also gone through his reports and recommendations on our common follow up patients and found them outstanding.

Not only is he a good clinician, Dr. Taha is dedicated to patient care and to the departmental growth.

I have attended some of his lectures, all were good quality. He has helped train many good residents and fellows and is always described as a pleasant approachable teacher and gives needed time to help the students learn.

All these activities and he still remains one of the hardest working radiologists in our department. His excellent service and dedication to our department, patients and hospital is excellent; I strongly support him without reservation.

Sincerely,
